PTV SCIENCES ANNOUNCES NEW VENTURE PARTNERS

Austin and Houston, TX – June 22, 2010 – PTV Sciences (“PTV”), a healthcare venture capital and growth equity firm, announced three new Venture Partners, serving as Senior Advisors; Dennis Donohoe, M.D., Marlene Wright Valenti, and Dan Walsh.

Each joins PTV Sciences with extensive and instrumental backgrounds that will add value to the PTV Team.

Dennis Donohoe, M.D. has a vast clinical and regulatory consulting background, reviewing medical and surgical devices as well as device-drug combination products. Dr. Donohoe has also had a long tenure as Johnson & Johnson’s Worldwide Vice President, heading up various clinical, regulatory, cardiology, endovascular, and neurovascular divisions.

Marlene Wright Valenti adds additional capabilities to the PTV Team with extensive experience in regulatory affairs and regulatory approvals for cardiovascular class II & III combination productions. Among some of Ms. Valenti’s significant investigational device exemption (IDE) product approvals are the CYPHER[®], the first drug-eluting stent approval for Japan and the first brachytherapy system approval for the U.S.

Dan Walsh is a member of PA Consulting Group’s management team in the life sciences and healthcare practice division. He specializes in technology strategy and medical device product development, regulatory compliance, quality systems, and improving the effectiveness of commercial launch of new medical technologies.

Rick Anderson, Managing Director of PTV Sciences, commented: “Dennis, Marlene and Dan all add significant capabilities to PTV Sciences and our portfolio companies. We have worked extensively with these three leaders and the value they create for our portfolio will be meaningful. We are very proud to have them join us and look forward to working with them extensively.”
